

Wyoming Catholic College and Kolbe Academy and Trinity Prep invite you to an evening with Dr. Jason Baxter, who will speak on

Globalism, Technology, and Poetry:
Can the Humanities Contribute Anything to the Modern World?

August 17th

The Smith Family Ranch 5390 Washington Street Napa, CA 94558

Wine and cheese reception at 6:30 pm

Lecture at approximately 7 pm

RSVP requested at johnpatrickkelly@yahoo.com or 425-890-3232

This event will be outdoors at the beautiful Smith Family Ranch in north Napa. You may wish to bring a sweater or jacket.

Jason Baxter has been with Wyoming Catholic College for seven years. He teaches humanities courses ranging from Homer and Plato to Dante and Shakespeare. He also teaches art history and introduced one of the most successful courses at WCC: the Junior Author Project.

Over the past few years, Dr Baxter has spoken across the country and abroad. In 2016 Dr. Baxter worked with Wyoming Catholic College's Distance Learning Program to produce an 18-part introduction to The Divine Comedy: "Dante in the Year of Mercy." This lecture series – joined by more than 1000 people – has developed into an introductory book on Dante to be published by Brazos Press in January, 2018. He recently completed a book on why the humanities still matter: Falling Inward: Humanities in the Age of Technology.

The talk addresses that question directly. In a world dominated by the STEM fields, are humanistic studies still relevant? This lecture advances three fresh arguments about why the humanities are not only relevant, but critical.

Wyoming Catholic College provides an education of immersion: immersion in the Western tradition, immersion in the beauty and challenges of the wilderness, immersion in the treasures of our Catholic spiritual heritage.

Kolbe Academy & Trinity Prep is a Pre-K through 12 Catholic school in Napa, providing a high-quality, classically-influenced Catholic education in an academically challenging, faith-filled environment.